One of the most cherished beliefs in U.S. genealogical research is the presence of at least one Native American in our past. Finding evidence to prove or disprove these family stories can be very difficult. Did you know that there were very specific rules in place regarding how Native Americans were enumerated in the U.S. Census between 1850 and 1910? Knowing how the enumerators were instructed and what the census asked about Native Americans will help you to determine if your ancestors were Native Americans.
HOLIDAY GIFT MEMBERSHIP

Do you have a family member or friend who has expressed interest in working on their family history? Make gift-giving easy by presenting them with a GFO Membership this holiday season. It’s simple! Fill out this form and send it with a check to Membership at the GFO. Indicate whether you are giving them publications by email or U.S. Postal Service. If you choose email, please be sure to include their current email address. If you would like a short message to be included on the Certificate, please send the text for your message with your application for the gift membership. The Gift Certificate will be mailed back to you before December 15. All memberships will begin January 1, 2017. Reminder: All dues and donations are Tax Deductible; the Forum is a 501(c)(3) Non Profit organization - Federal Tax ID #93-6026215.

If you are not receiving your Bulletin or Insider, read on . . . because unsubscribing from one doesn’t have to mean unsubscribing from all

If you’ve clicked unsubscribe on one of the GFO’s emails previously, BUT then noticed you’re not receiving your Bulletin, Insider, or other important GFO messages, we have a solution. You will soon be receiving a message from the GFO for the sole purpose of selecting your email message preferences.

Your choices include:
✓ Our weekly Wednesday Evening E-News;
✓ Our monthly Insider newsletter; and
✓ Urgent Announcements like closures.

And, for our members:
✓ Our quarterly Bulletin; and
✓ Membership renewals (as GFO reduces paper and goes green).

Our sincerest apologies if it seems like we’re pestering you, but we had no idea that we could use this amazing feature that allows our members and friends to manage their preferences for each of our individual communications categories. And we’ve discovered that some folks who clicked “Unsubscribe” were no longer receiving our newsletter or quarterly magazine when they wanted it.

We never ever want to SPAM you, but we want to be sure you receive the messages that are important to you, so please watch your email for our Special Message and click on “Preferences” to make your selections.

Thanks for your time, consideration, and patience with this matter. We want to honor your communication wishes, but we need your help to know what those might be.

Sincerely,

The GFO communications team

GFO never shares your personal information with any other entity. Subscribing to ALL our communications means that you will get, on average, about one email message a week; about five a month.
Oregon Migrations Symposium
Wednesday, November 16, 6–8 p.m.

The Oregon Migrations symposium in Eugene, Oregon, will bring together scholars and holders of community history to investigate the various ways that Oregon inhabitants and newcomers have shaped each other through time. Organized by the Oregon Historical Quarterly in partnership with Dr. Bob Bussel and Dr. Dan Tichenor, both of the University of Oregon. Free and open to the public. Address: UO – Knight Law Center, 1515 Agate St. Eugene, OR.

GenTalk: Native-American Ancestors
Kate Eakman, MA
Saturday, November 19, 2–4 p.m.

What the U.S. Census tells us about your potential Native-American ancestors

One of the most cherished beliefs in U.S. genealogical research is the presence of at least one Native American in our past. Finding evidence to prove or disprove these family stories can be very difficult. Did you know that there were very specific rules in place regarding how Native Americans were enumerated in the U.S. Census between 1850 and 1910?

Knowing how the enumerators were instructed and what the census asked about Native Americans will help you to determine if your ancestors were Native Americans.

Kate Eakman holds an M.A. in history from the University of North Carolina, and is a senior researcher for Legacy Tree Genealogists. She has made presentations both in person and in online webinars, taught classes, and published articles on a variety of genealogical topics. Her specialties include Civil War era, African-American, and Native American genealogy.
Give Time and Have Fun Too!

#GivingTuesday is when everyone is asking for your cash donations—which of course we would never turn down... but this year on Tuesday, November 29th, we’re asking for a gift of your time. An hour CAN make a difference. The whole day, 9:30 to 5:00, will be dedicated to a work party. Coffee, tea and pastries available in the morning; pizza and beverages will be provided for lunch. Come, roll up your sleeves, and do a little typing or labeling, sorting or filing, scanning or whatever. It won’t be a quiet day for research because we’re going to PARTY!

Our Invitation to Discover the GFO
Speakers for Your Group or Tours of the Library

Do you participate in a group or club that might like to learn about the GFO? We have speakers who would love to attend one of your meetings to give a presentation about our resources and provide one-time visitor passes to our research library. Your group could also visit the GFO for a free tour and our Introduction to Genealogy or Introduction to GFO Resources presentation. Any school, youth group, social club, resident association, religious group, or hobby club is invited to request a speaker for their gathering or to contact the GFO for a visit.

Need more info about presentations? Send an email to education@gfo.org. For more information or to schedule a tour email tours@gfo.org.

Tax Deduction

The GFO membership fees are 100% tax deductible in keeping with our 501(c)(3) nonprofit status. (Federal Tax ID #93-6026215) If you make a matching donation to the Oregon Cultural Trust, you may also be eligible for an Oregon tax credit.

Revenue stamps: The British Stamp Act of 1765 imposed a direct tax on the American colonies for certain paper goods, requiring them to be printed on paper with a preprinted stamp. The top left image shows a one-penny stamp. This act was one of the major grievances that led to the American Revolution. All other images are U.S. and state tax stamps. GFO in the News

Forgotten cemeteries tell story of ultimate exclusion

The NW [Portland] Examiner, has an article on lost and forgotten local cemeteries that quotes the GFO. (See page 9)

See Your Article in Print!

The Bulletin, GFO’s quarterly magazine is your publication. The editors hope you enjoy reading it, and we want to invite you to submit your family story, genealogy essay, or research report for publication. It is a great way to make sure your family’s history is preserved and available to others in the future. And you will be able to pass your published article around at the next family gathering!

The magazine publishes a wide range of material including memoirs and personal essays, problem-solving articles, research articles and source guides, articles about family history travel, how-to articles, using technology, book reviews, and transcriptions or extractions from original sources.

Ask for a copy of the general guidelines at the email listed below, but don’t let anything you see there discourage you. Be brave! Our friendly team of editors will help you get your article in shape, assuring that you (and the GFO) will look good. If you have an idea for an article, but are not sure if it’s a good one, pitch it to the editors.

Send articles, ideas, and questions to Marti Dell and Laurel Smith at Bulletin@gfo.org.

Slavery in America and the World: History, Culture & Law

Now available free for researchers, HeinOnline offers its database on U.S. and world slavery. This collection holds all statutes: colony, state and federal, and all cases, state and federal on slavery. Also included are nineteenth-century pamphlets and books, modern histories and law review articles on slavery.

HeinOnline is a resource of William S. Hein & Co., Inc., which provides original publications and reprints of law and law-related periodicals.

Colonial Families Database on Ancestry

A new database on Ancestry.com presents images from Colonial Families of the United States of America: in Which is Given the History, Genealogy and Armorial Bearings of Colonial Families Who Settled in the American Colonies From the Time of the Settlement of Jamestown, 13th May, 1607, to the Battle of Lexington, 19th April, 1775. The names are indexed from a project of Ancestry World Archives Project.

For in-depth study of the volume, you can find the original scanned document to download in several formats on Internet Archive at:

Liz Porter

Liz Porter has taken on the HUGE task of updating the OPALS system by entering all our periodicals into the database, making the system more user friendly – Liz has become our periodicals expert! She learned the catalog and task so quickly! While I was away and Laurel wasn’t able to come to it, she learned to create labels to keep things moving. Her work is very accurate – and she has such a sweet disposition.
Thank you, Liz!

Keith and Darlene Pyeatt

Keith and Darlene Pyeatt represent stardom to GFO for their many presentations from their recent explanation of how to use the German Parish Map Books last month to on-going workshops on many topics from beginner to advanced level. They work as a team and even go to prisons to help the inmates with genealogy. Prisoners are not allowed to use the Internet, so the Pyeatts have brought many books and other resources to the prison and have completed some Internet research for them. “We hope our work helps them have a sense of connection to their family and the community.” Thank you, Keith and Darlene!

Thanks to both of you!

The Tithe Maps Project for England and Wales Completed

[From Dick Eastman’s Blog, December 31, 2015]

An Update from TheGenealogist.co.uk: The Tithe Maps Project for England and Wales Completed

The following announcement was written by the folks at TheGenealogist.co.uk. [More details, images, and links at the original article: https://blog.eogn.com/2015/12/31/an-update-from-thegenealogist-co-uk-the-tithe-maps-project-for-england-and-wales-completed/]

TheGenealogist.co.uk has now completed the launch of searchable Tithe Maps and Schedules for England and Wales with the release of more maps covering 40 counties. This means you can now view a map of your ancestors parish for the counties of Anglesey, Bedfordshire, Berkshire, Brecknockshire, Buckinghamshire, Caernarfonshire, Cambridgeshire, Cardiganshire, Carmarthenshire, Cheshire, Cornwall, County Durham, Cumberland, Denbighshire, Derbyshire, Devon, Dorset, Essex, Flintshire, Glamorgan, Glamorganshire, Gloucestershires, Hampshire, Herefordshire, Hertfordshire, Huntingdonshire, Kent, Lancashire, Leicestershire, Lincolnshire, Merionethshire, Middlesex, Monmouthshire, Montgomeryshire, Norfolk, Northamptonshire, Northumberland, Nottinghamshire, Oxfordshire, Pembroke, Radnorshire, Rutland, Shropshire, Somerset, Staffordshire, Suffolk, Surrey, Sussex, Warwickshire, Westmorland, Wiltshire, Worcestershire, York City and Ainsty and Yorkshire.

These maps link to the searchable schedules which contain over 14 million records. The schedules contain detailed information on land use with linked maps that jump to the plot for an individual from the records. The maps can contain hundreds of individual plots with varying levels of detail. They can reveal buildings, fields, houses, rivers, lakes, woods and also cover villages, towns and cities.

These records are available as part of the Diamond subscription on TheGenealogist.co.uk.

Best Tip from the Fall Seminar

Try out Yippy.com for your searches. The big advantage is that results are grouped in categories – what they call Concept Clusters. These can be filtered to narrow the results to those of the most interest. Click on a category to see just those pages. Then you can gather from those category names additional key-words to add to your search phrases.

1771 Massachusetts Tax Inventory
http://sites.fas.harvard.edu/~hsb41/masstax/masstax.cgi

A collection of taxable properties for 38,000 persons residing in Massachusetts in 1771, with names and descriptions. Included are real estate, buildings, livestock, and commodities. The map base is from 1792, to help you locate counties and towns of the era.

Index to All New York City Marriage Records, 1950-1995
http://www.nycmarriageindex.com/

This is a free searchable database of more than three million New York City marriage licenses that were filed between 1950 and 1995, from the efforts of Reclaim the Records, a group dedicated to opening public records to researchers. The non-profit’s efforts are worth following to discover new data resources and future projects. You can also add your request for future projects of public records related to genealogy and history that have limited or no public access.
